

and certainly could not be exposed. With these facts, equally from left to both sides, it is not surprising that the "New Orleans Herald has been," "that it is."

The Cincinnati Gazette, yesterday, in reply to the article of discussion by Senator Fremont's argument on the power of the State under the national Constitution, says: "The authors of the article are right; if the States have this executive power, then 'the majority may disfranchise the minority,' and thus the majority in the republic."
